

Notice on Postponement of Asian Rock Mechanics Symposium (ARMS11)

In view of the current situation regarding the novel coronavirus pneumonia (COVID-19) epidemic around the world and upon the approval of the International Society for Rock Mechanics and Rock Engineering (ISRM), the organizing committee of Asian Rock Mechanics Symposium (ARMS11) has decided to postpone the event, which was initially scheduled in Beijing from 23 to 27 October 2020, to 2021. The rescheduled date will be notified after consultation with all relevant parties.

We believe that, under the strong leadership of Chinese government, we will defeat the epidemic in China as soon as possible. We will monitor the epidemic situation around the world closely and coordinate actively with ISRM so as to decide the rescheduled date of ARMS11 as soon as possible. We will inform you of the organizational progress of ARMS11 in a timely manner.

We apologize for the inconvenience caused by the delay and appreciate your understanding. Thanks to all participants and exhibitors for your continuous support to ARMS11.

The Organizing Committee of ARMS11

4 March 2020